

Alabama Sky (3:42)

(Paloma Szathmáry / Hillbilly Hämpi)

It was a day past late September
It was the day her world broke down
That day she will remember
People stopped her world go round
She had given all her passion for so many years
Finding herself now on a trail of pain and tears

She had planned to be there
Until the end of time
Always believing in the good
And not trusting the signs
Someone said sometimes you have to lose to win
And she felt the pain all over her skin

*She finally found consolation under the Alabama sky
Riding along the cotton fields that have seen so many cry
She found consolation embracing a new life sunny side up
Cause, when the going gets rough, this girl gets tough!*

One day, she finally woke up
She knew she had to rock
Are the good people by her side.
Her live's now so much richer than long before
Past September she won't remember anymore

*She finally found consolation under the Alabama sky
Riding along the cotton fields that have seen so many cry
She found consolation embracing a new life sunny side up
Cause, when the going gets rough, this girl gets tough!*

And she stopped cryin' under the Alabama sky
